

What have we been learning?

WB: 4.11.24

We're excited to welcome all our children and parents back for a brand new half term full of learning and fun! This week, we kicked things off with a bang by exploring Bonfire Night. The children have enjoyed hearing the story of Guy Fawkes and the Gunpowder Plot, creating sparklers, and etching stunning firework pictures. The classroom has been full of creativity!

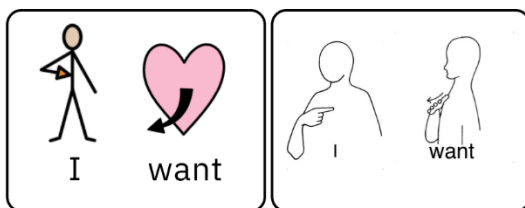

Alongside our festival theme, we've also been focusing on equality studies. Through the charming story of Zog, the children have learned that both men and women can pursue any career they choose. We've also been discussing how boys and girls can play with any toys they love, reinforcing the idea that everyone should feel free to explore their interests without limitations.

We look forward to more exciting lessons ahead as we continue our journey of learning about festivals and celebrations from around the world. Here's to another wonderful half term together!

This week our Core Word Curriculum is focussing on the phrase "I want."
